Up to twenty minutes or so before we were supposed to reach NANTES everything went all right. About 1330 we met some mediocre flak without receiving any damage. Then about eight German fighters lined up abreast of our squadron at 6 o'clock about 1000 yards out. I thought that they started lobbing rockets at us. They gradually closed in on us. About five bursts broke short of the plane. Then five hit in the left wing between number one and number two engine, starting a fire immediately. The left waist gunner reported that the wing was melting away. I saw flames trailing. The pilot gave the order to bail out and tried to keep the plane under control without putting it on AFCE. We all had plenty of time to get out. I went out the waist escape hatch first at about 18,000 feet, opening my parachute when I was still in the plane's slip stream and receiving quite a jerk. I saw two parachutes. I saw the plane explode and crash in a field and burn.

I landed in a field in a circle of about 15 people. One of the Frenchmen asked me whether I was ^{an} ~~Allemande~~. When I replied, "Non, je suis ~~Americain~~ aviateur américain," the man took me to a woods. Someone else took care of my parachute. I was given civilian clothes, taken to a farmhouse, and then hid in a gully. I slept there.

That evening a number of people came. One said, "Good evening, friends." I was taken to a house, and my journey was arranged.

(Aircrews should be instructed to avoid all Spanish police and especially the Civil Guards once they get into Spain. They should also be told to try and get in touch with the military attache as soon as possible. It might be well to remind them that they cannot tell their story to the American consuls.

APPENDIX "D" TO E AND F REPORT NO.

List all military information which you observed or were told while evading. Give fullest possible details. (Airfields, troop encampments, coastal and interior defenses, AA batteries, radar installations, troop movements, results of allied bombing, location of enemy factories and ammunition dumps, enemy and civilian morale, etc., etc.,.....)

I saw a concentration of troops in DINAN. The French said there were training camps nearby. These troops included Air force, mobile infantry, artillery and service personnel. (LAST 2 WKS OF OCT.) I found ~~at~~ Bretonne the main roads have installations and obstacles to stop infantry, and tank movements. While travelling from Paris to Perpignan Dec 20-21 '43 I saw many (five or six) complete regiments of ^{ATP-MW-N-T} tank outfits and the infantry complement moving from South to north.

In ^{and ground} Ploemel the enemy has inf. air force and tank outfits equipped with about a 75 mm cannon.
